*Ladies and Gentlemen,
Dear Colleagues,*

We are excited to invite you to participate in the 21st Warsaw East European Conference (WEEC), organized by the SEW UW–Centre for East European Studies at the University of Warsaw. Taking place from 30 June to 2 July 2025 in the heart of Warsaw, this year's conference is titled

Time of Global Turbulence: Challenges for Central and Eastern Europe.

This major event will bring together scholars, and experts to engage with the complex issues facing Central and Eastern Europe in an era marked by geopolitical uncertainty, shifting global alliances, and economic transformations. As the region stands at a critical juncture, where local and international forces are converging, this conference aims to foster a deeper understanding of the region's evolving dynamics and to explore innovative solutions to its challenges.

The conference will feature a rich program of academic sessions, expert panels, and roundtable discussions, bridging the gap between theoretical research and real-world applications. Participants will have the opportunity to engage in cross-disciplinary debates, share their insights, and collaborate on strategies to address pressing regional issues. The following topics will be among those addressed:

- Scenarios for ending the Russian-Ukrainian war and their long-term regional implications
- The policies of the new U.S. administration toward Central and Eastern Europe in the context of global shifts
- The evolving relationship between Russia and the West: examining prospects, challenges, and tensions
- Regional security dynamics, focusing on NATO's role in safeguarding the Baltic and Black Sea regions
- The future of Ukraine, Belarus, and Moldova amid ongoing Russian aggression and the impact on regional stability
- Strengthening European integration through the role of Central Europe in EU policies and beyond
- Prospects for cooperation within regional frameworks such as the Visegrad Group and the Three Seas Initiative
- The growing influence of disinformation, propaganda, and hybrid warfare in shaping public opinion and policy across the region

We encourage contributions from diverse disciplines, including political science, international relations, security studies, economics, history, sociology, and the humanities, to reflect the multifaceted nature of the challenges facing the region. The conference aims to provide a collaborative space where academic perspectives intersect with practical insights to navigate the uncertainties ahead.

We look forward to welcoming you to Warsaw for a stimulating exchange of ideas, fostering both intellectual dialogue and tangible solutions for the future of Central and Eastern Europe in an increasingly turbulent global environment.

We are delighted to share this opportunity for meaningful discussions and insightful academic contributions. Join us in Warsaw as we explore how Central and Eastern Europe can navigate the challenges of global turbulence and build a resilient future.

Sincerely,
Dr. Adam Eberhardt, Conference Director
On behalf of the WEEC Organizing Committee
SEW UW–Centre for East European Studies, University of Warsaw
